
Call for Book Manuscripts

Fountainhead Press is pleased to announce the Fountainhead Press X Series for Professional Development, a new series for the professional development of both new and experienced teachers of English, including:

- New Teaching Assistants, Adjuncts, and Instructors teaching writing and/or literature
- Writing Program Administrators interested in the creation of professional development courses or programs
- Writing Center personnel
- Writing Across the Curriculum personnel
- Service Learning Personnel

Fountainhead Press plans to publish two to three books in the series per year with the assistance of series editors Allison D. Smith and Trixie G. Smith, authors of Fountainhead's COMPbiblio: Leaders and Influences in Composition Theory and Practice. Each book in the series will include an introduction that covers the historical and/or theoretical underpinnings of the book's focus and eight to ten essays that provide practical ideas for immediate application in the classroom. The series editors are presently calling for book proposals in the following areas:

- | | |
|--|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Aspects of professional development• Assessment• Contact zones• Developing writers• Developing writing assignments• Diversity issues• Intersections in English studies• Language and literacy• National or local writing projects• Pop culture and the English classroom• Rhetoric in the composition classroom• Service learning | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Strategies for fostering critical thinking• Student-centered teaching ideas• Teaching grammar in context• Teaching literature with technology• Teaching writing with technology• (T)ESL• Using literature in the writing classroom• Using writing in the literature classroom• Visual rhetoric / New Media Writing• WAC/WID• Writing centers |
|--|--|

For more information see the Fountainhead Press Web site at www.fountainheadpress.com or contact both series editors with proposals or completed projects at adsmith@mtsu.edu and smit1254@msu.edu.